

National Endowment for the Arts Research Labs Summit

Constitution Center, Washington, DC

June 4, 2019

- 9:00      Welcome and Introductions from the National Endowment for the Arts
- 9:15      Results from the First Cohort of NEA Research Labs
Presentations by Project Directors from the Labs at:
Drexel University
University of Arkansas
University of Iowa
Vanderbilt University
- 10:15      Perspectives from Day One
Steven Holochwost, Research Scientist, Science of Learning Institute,
Johns Hopkins University; and Principal and Director of Research for Youth & Families,
WolfBrown
Julene Johnson, Professor and Associate Dean for Research, UCSF School of Nursing
Brian Smith, Professor and Senior Academic Dean of Academic Affairs,
College of Computing and Informatics, Drexel University
- 10:45      Q&A for Panelists
- 11:00      Break
- 11:15      Arts Research Opportunities at Other Federal Agencies
Elizabeth Albro, Commissioner of Education Research, Institute of Education Sciences,
U.S. Department of Education
Sylvia Lyles, Director, Office of Academic Improvement, U.S. Department of Education
Thomas Cheever, Program Director, National Institutes of Health (NIH), and Staff
Assistant to NIH Director for Sound Health Partnership
Soo-Siang Lim, Director, Science of Learning Program, National Science Foundation
Tim Wojan, Regional Economist, Economic Research Services, U.S. Department of Agriculture
- 12:00      Keynote Presentation: “The Science of Sound: How Music and Rhythm Can Inform Healthy Choices”
Nina Kraus, Hugh Knowles Professor of Communication Sciences, Neurobiology, and Otolaryngology, Northwestern University
- 1:00      Adjournment

Activities during the open session will be livestreamed and archived for later viewing.